Gardner-O'Brien March Off. The match between Oscar Gardner and Jack O'Brien, scheduled for August S, at the Coney Island Club, was yesterday declared off. This fact is pleasing intelligence to Oscar's friends, inasing intelligence to Oscar's friends, inas-much as he was faking a big chance, for O'Brien would have come in at about 149 pounds, and Oscar had noth-ing to gain by defeating thin. He was willing and confident, but the club wouldn't stand for it, and Oscar was surprised at the club's move. He will now rest until September, when he will go against men of his own class, under 122 pounds.

tured only a few months previous and had been brought to the Canadian metropolla on a ship direct from Calcutta. The natives in Bengal state that his tigership had destroyed and devoured more than eighty people, including four entire families who lived near his favorite jungle. He seemed to bear a charmed life, and could not be exterminted with either spear or builet. Finally, with the aid of a column of British cavairy, he was run into a huge trap, bound with ropes and thongs and forced into a strong cage, in which he was conveyed on the ship to Montreal. Colonel Peter Sells, general manager of the 4-Paw-Sells combine, happened in Montreal at the time of the arrival of the tiger, and after three days' negotiations purchased the animal from the captain of the vessel. It was a costly affair, however, as the treasury department of the big aggregation was obliged to separate from seven thousand good American dollars—an unparalleled figure, as the regular price of tigers ranges from $1,500 to $2,000—in order to obtain possession of the monster.

an unparalleled figure, as the regular price of tigers ranges from $1.500 to 15.000—in order to obtain possession of the monster.

During the long voyage from Calcutta, the passengers, officers and crew were in mortat fear of the beast. One day he forced the bars of his cage apart and rushed wildly about the compartment in the hold where his cage was set, Great consternation prevailed. The passengers flew to their staterooms and the antiors skipped aloft. Fortunately the mate was a cool-headed fellow, who had had some experience in handling wild beasts. He ordered a couple of saliors to bring out the fire hose, and while the tiger was making terrific leaps toward the hatchway, which he had thus far been unable to clear, a stream of water was turned upon him. Drenched with water instantly, he jumped about in abject terror. Never was an animal more surprised. He defled bullels and steel, but succumbed to cold water.

Completely cowed and as meek as the proverbial lamb, he took refuge in his cage. While the saliors covered the opening in the cage with a powerful stream of, water, and the tiger lay trembling in one corner, the mata boldly approached and repaired the twisted bars. As soon as the saliors stopped playing on the tiger he became as furious as ever, and made desperate eforts to escape, but the bars had been securely adjusted.

Since being placed in Forepaugh and Sella' menagerio, where he is canfined in a specially strong cage, he has torn the arms and shoulders of two employes through the steel bars of his lair, and no man can be found among the several experienced and courageous wild beast trainers with the show who is saring enough to enter his den and face him. They belleyas the can never he subdued. The offens people have named him "Satón."

If any of the ambitious youth of the city would like to antempt the subjection of this famous beast, and thereby obtain everlasting renown—a prize so dear in, the juvenile heart—the management of the Big Duai Show may be induced, to furnish them an opportunity o

But a sult for $14,000, claimed to be due as royalty, has just been filed by Nathan Holloway, one of the heirs owning the coal land, and it is figured that this suit has something to do with the action. There are about 180 men employed altogether about those mines, and they hope for a change of mind in the management.

Local Happenings of Importance in a Husy Town.

The Benwood Electric Light Company has organized its directorate by the following election; Prosident, Thomas P. Deegan; vice president, R. E. Sharp; secretary, Charles Moyan; treasurer, Charles Schad. The directors ordered the payment of four of the $500 bonds next month. The past year was not very prosperous for the company, on account of serious break downs at its plant, but the coming year is expected to be a profitable one.

Much local interest is attached to the People's Railway Company's plans, and Benwood people believe if the railway is built in Whesling a junction will be effected with the Moundsville line. The options taken a year or so ago on Kentucky Heights were undoubtedly in the interests of a railway line, and the People's company may be directly concerned in it.
